Introduction

There is no denying the fact that perhaps in the whole world the Brahma Kumaris is the only organization which is run and managed on such an international scale by the women of the organization. It becomes more significant when one notes that since its inception in 1936-37, when women in the country had a very sad state of position in the society and family, the charge of the management of this spiritual organization was actively given to women and it has been the Dadis and the senior sisters, of course with the positive and constructive support from the brothers, who have looked to the growth and development of the Brahma Kumaris across the world in more than 135 countries.

In the year 1986, when the UNO declared it the Year of the Women Empowerment, the Brahma Kumaris under the Rajyoga Education & Research Foundation established their Women Wing to pay a focused attention to the solution of certain problems relating to women in the society as also to enlighten them spiritually and pave the way for the whole family's emancipation through value-based and qualitative living. The present Chairperson of the Wing is Rajyogini B.K. Chakradhari (Delhi), while BK Dr. Savita (Shantivan) is the HQ Coordinator. The Women Wing of the Brahma Kumaris has initiated quite a few programmes and projects for the moral and spiritual empowerment of women and also to ensure their just and equitable role in the social set up of the society, rural as well as urban. Since the inception of the Wing, every year some specific schemes through seminars and conferences are taken up, some of which have been as follows:

- A three-day training course 'Values for a happy family life' is imparted to desirous women in which they are enlightened on the methods and plans of adopting the techniques which would ensure peace, happiness, love, orderliness and cleanliness in their family life.

Gyan Sarovar - Inaugurating June 2013 Conference are Rajyogini Dadi Ratan Mohini ji , Joint Chief, Brahma Kumaris, Mrs. Kiran Chopra, Director, Punjab Kesari, Mrs. Anju Sharma IAS , BK Chakradhari, Chairperson, Women's Wing, BK Dr. Savita HQ Coordinator, Women's Wing

- Programmes to enable them to treat themselves as empowered and not a burden on others. They are given training in values and spiritual knowledge to empower their inner self.
- Conducting seminars and conferences and retreats relating to problems of the women. In such programmes women are encouraged to highlight 'Problems & issues relating to women' and the means of 'Women Empowerment'. They discuss and debate all such issues thoroughly.
- Till now more than 32 such conferences have been organized at the Brahma Kumaris HQ in which thousands of prestigious & representative women have participated and benefited. It may also be noted that in these programmes the Chairperson of the National Commission for Women's Rights, Union Minister for Child and Women Welfare have been participating from time to time.
- For the meaningful and spiritual empowerment of women, the Wing also organizes Three-Day Meditation Camp' in which they are encouraged to experience peace, power, enthusiasm and stress-free living in their real life situations. They are also taught how to rise above the small and petty routine matters of their daily life and not be emotionally charged in such situations. The Women's Wing has organized many such camps for women not only at their headquarters but also at different centers in the country.
- The Women Wing has also taken care to provide this meaningful spiritual service to the rural and remote areas where women are rarely allowed to move out of their home or village. The Wing also tries to reach the tribal people. These areas have also been benefited with the Godly knowledge and training so that their family life is value-based and qualitatively more virtuous.

Some Services Undertaken by the Wing :

March 08, which is the International Women's Day and which is celebrated across the world to highlight some of the problems relating to women and their emancipation, is also celebrated in India. The Women Wing of the Brahma Kumaris takes this day as a opportunity to bring women and their problems to the forefront of the social and national life. No doubt the Govt. of India also takes this day to highlight one of the women problems every year but the Women's Wing of the RE&RF makes serious attempts, through thousands of its centers across the country to bring women problems for discussion and their solutions by the society. Many functions and discussions are arranged on this day at different places and as such a lot of social service is also initiated for the tribal areas.

All India Women Spiritual Empowerment Campaign - in 2001, 9 Campaigns from 9 big cities launched which are as follows :

1. Kangra to Delhi
2. Porbandar to Delhi
3. Nagpur to Delhi
4. Bangalore to Delhi
5. Singrauli to Delhi
6. Allahabad to Delhi
7. Burhanpur to Delhi
8. Mumbai to Delhi
9. Abu to Delhi

During this campaign a series of lectures were also delivered in many cities and villages enroute the rally. These lectures proved to be of immense value for the spiritual awakening not only of women in our society but also the different groups of men and youth. The enthusiastic and huge participation of people in these lectures has encouraged the Wing to arrange more of such lectures and rallies and campaigns. Such programmes of lectures and discussions were also organized in many colleges, hospitals and social service centers.

The official campaign of the Govt, of India had five major issues relating to women i.e. Morality, Health, Empowerment, Education & Security. The Women Wing adopted these five points for an overall development of women in our society and these were the major aspects to be tackled by the wing in the national perspective:

1. To initiate a moral and spiritual awakening.
2. To impart knowledge of Health Rules and norms.
3. To awaken them about their role in establishing peace and happiness in the family and society.
4. To bring out their hidden powers and talent by encouraging women education.
5. To initiate a self-effort on their part to identify their spiritual self and to realize it.

Narayangaon, Pune - Candle Lighting at Nari - Sashaktikaran Program by BK Dr. Savita HQ Coordinator, Women's Wing, and BK Sunanda

It has been a consistent effort of the Women Wing to arouse sufficient awakening amongst women that they treat themselves as 'soul' and realise the qualities and powers of the soul. They should manifest all these qualities of the soul in their real life conduct. They must realize that as soul one is above the distinction of gender as a soul is neither a male nor a female. It is only after birth that one becomes a man or woman and is given name and identical social role and thus his/her latent powers become express.

Seminars & Conferences:

Every year in the month of June/ July a Women Conference is organized at the Brahma Kumaris HQ at Mount Abu. In this conference about a thousand participants take part representing various women organizations and professions from India and Nepal. The representation is very wide spread as doctors, professors and teachers, managers of various organizations, advocates, judges, administrators, and engineers constitute the groups of participants in these conferences. It has often been realised that these participants after the conference and at their places play the role of a mouth-piece of the Brahma Kumaris and the social services being conducted by them. Every 2 year a big conference, in which about 5000 participants take part is organised at Shantivan.

Glimpses of Some Seminars & Conferences:

This year also conferences were held in the Gyan Sarovar and Shantivan Campus of the Brahma Kumaris with the aim of ensuring an awakening amongst the women in our society.

Conference - December, 2016, Shantivan

The presence of Dadi Janki Ji, Administrative Head of Brahma Kumaris makes the happiness of guests drench with joy and powerful spiritual vibrations. She stated that to do the world transformation by changing themselves. Always stay in the remembrance of one GOD. Mothers should always be unite, there is no nourishment like happiness

Rajyogini Dadi Janki ji,
Administrative Head of Brahma Kumaris

In the current scenario, the deterioration of the moral, social and family values is the indicator of transformation. I am delight to say that human civilization has been moved towards the elevated and positive change by spiritual awakening through GOD's power. Suprem GOD Father Shiva Himself has given the urn of knowledge to women power and this knowledge should be shared among all.

BK Chakradhari Didi
Chairperson, Women's Wing

While describing the importance of motherhood and women power she said that these are the base of social transformation. The word WOMAN is the symbolic of virtues not a gender based and told that gender differences are the social evil. Just as Mata Jijabai, Pannadhaya and many heroines of Rajasthan gave more importance to defense of the country rather than their family and self.

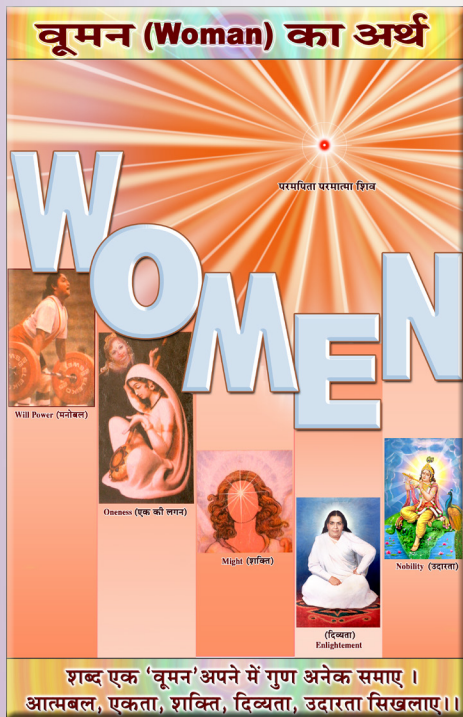

Smt. Anita Bhadel,
Women & Child Development Minister, Jaipur (Raj.)

I feel good to come here because women are empowered here. As compared to men, emotions like affection, compassion and sacrifice are natural in women. On the basis of these values, they make a balance between their carrier and culture. The virtue of understanding in women can carry them to the maximum perfection.

Dr. Perna Shekhawat
Additional SP, Sirohi(Raj.)

Pictorial Exhibition

The Women Wing has prepared a 13 Picture Exhibition under the caption 'Women's Spiritual Empowerment', which has turned out to be a powerful mode of reaching out to women in small towns and rural areas. This exhibition explains in detail and clearly the issues relating to women and their possible spiritual awakening. Since many of our women in the rural areas and small towns are generally illiterate, this exhibition comes very handy in explaining to them their role in the society and their latent skills and talents. The pictorial medium of explanation has its own charm and benefit also which in this case has proved its significance.

Training in 'Values for a Happy Family Life'

The Women Wing of the Brahma Kumaris has been organizing a special training programme for women with the theme of 'Values for a Happy Family Life' at their campuses in Gyan Sarovar and Shantivan. This 2 or 3 day training programme aims at helping women to solve their domestic problems by self-introspection and realization of the spiritual values in their conduct. The basic reason of any domestic dispute is the lack of one or the other spiritual value.

Hence the participating women not only gain an understanding of the working of a happy family system but they also come to know the simple rules of solving some of the problems which sometimes take a catastrophic form and destroy the whole edifice of a family. By this training women not only solve their personal and social problems and family but they also create an atmosphere of peace, understanding and cooperation. The Wing has organized more than 10 such training programmes for women.

The News Letter - 'Nari Shakti'

There can be no doubt that the Women Wing of the Brahma Kumaris has been discharging a tremendous social duty of enlightening women in issues and problems related to them. However, these attainments would remain only temporary and their achievements amongst other women in different parts of the country. Moreover the BK centers across the country are also doing their bit in ameliorating the social and cultural position of women in their respective areas. The news and achievements of those centers also need not only to be circulated but also to be recognized at the proper forum.

To attend to all these issues and many more the Women Wing has launched a Quarterly Magazine The Nari Shakti' (The Power of Woman) in which not just the news of services being done by various centers of the Brahma Kumaris are highlighted but the articles written by women and on women-related issues are published. In this way this magazine is a source of creative encouragement to women. The issues and problems of women are also taken up through the medium of this magazine.
